

EXECUTIVE ORDER EXECUTIVE ORDER S-5-05

06/24/2005

WHEREAS, the San Joaquin Valley is a region rich in resources and important to California's heritage, economy, environment and identity. It is one of the most productive agricultural regions in the world - home to farmlands that feed the nation and the world. It encompasses three world-class national parks that preserve the natural beauty of the Valley and the mountains that bound it. The San Joaquin Valley is intersected by a transportation corridor that is critical to the state's interstate commerce. Its people are hardworking and representative of many cultures, races and nationalities; and

WHEREAS, the eight counties and many communities that form the San Joaquin Valley enjoy assets that set the region apart from the rest of the state. But the Valley's unique geography, climate, and economy also pose specific challenges for the region that demand the attention of government leaders at the state, local and federal levels; and

WHEREAS, the region's population is growing much faster than the state average. By nearly every indicator, the economic well-being of the residents of the Valley lags behind state and national averages. More than one in five San Joaquin Valley residents lives in poverty. The region's median household income is approximately $12,000 lower than the statewide median. Yet, because of past neglect, the San Joaquin Valley receives substantially less per capita funding than both the U.S. and state averages; and

WHEREAS, the region is also one of only two regions in the nation to be identified by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency as an "extreme non-attainment" zone for repeatedly failing to meet air quality standards; and

WHEREAS, the strength of California is tied to the economic success of the San Joaquin Valley. Improving the economy and the well-being of the people of the San Joaquin Valley requires a concerted, coordinated and creative response from leaders at all levels of government and from community members.

NOW, THEREFORE, I ARNOLD SCHWARZENEGGER, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws of the State of California, do hereby issue this Executive Order to become effective immediately:

The Partnership shall also send progress reports after each meeting.
